Quotestream™ Mobile is a revolutionary wireless companion to the desktop product that allows users to remotely access streaming financial data, news, and charting and more in real time from most handheld devices. QuoteStream wireless offers the most features of any wireless stock market data application.

QuoteMedia's Applications and Real-Time Quotes offer simple and fast integration of embedded, pre-formatted market data modules for websites. These include comprehensive, multi-channel quote modules, portfolio managers, watch lists, charts, tickers, news modules, IR modules, Real Time data sets and more.

Corporate Outlook

Through its technological superiority, comprehensive product offerings and cost-effective product lines, QuoteMedia is quickly gaining market share in the $7 Billion financial data delivery market.

QuoteMedia provides stock market data, news feeds and other related financial software solutions that rival or exceed the quality and functionality of products from companies such as Bloomberg, Reuters, Thomson and IDCO Comstock at a considerably lower cost and reduced integration period.

As the number of trading positions are scaled back coupled with the decline in trading volumes, banks and brokerages have no choice other than to seriously consider the innovative, low-cost, high functionality alternative which QuoteMedia offers.

The overall Company's objective is to increase its top line revenue growth through primarily capturing market share within the data feed and Mobile/PDA markets. The company will accomplish this objective by aggressively exploiting its partnership with Penson Worldwide and other clients such as banks, brokers, mobile carriers and large scale web portals.
